

NEW MURDER MYSTERY STIRS SCOTLAND YARDS

AMERICAN WANTED FOR WIFE MURDER

Strange Case Rivals the Lake Como, Italy, Affair, in which Charlton Slew His Wife

MRS. CRIPPEN DISAPPEARS

Noted Opera Singer's Body Found Under Cellar, and Husband and Woman Are Gone

LONDON, July 14.—The police are confident that before night they will have arrested Dr. Hawley Crippen, alleged murderer of his wife, whose body was found buried in the cellar of their home.

LONDON, July 14.—Scotland Yard authorities are today bending every effort to locate Dr. Hawley Crippen, an American dentist, who disappeared last Saturday. The body of a woman, supposed to have been that of his wife, who was formerly Belle Elmore, a noted singer, was found late last night buried in the cellar of their home, No. 39 Hilldrop Crescent, on the outskirts of London. It was officially announced this afternoon that Crippen has been formerly charged with murder and mutilation and that the police all over the world have been asked to arrest him on sight.

Crippen is said to have fled with another woman, with whom he was living and who has assumed the name of Mrs. Crippen.

Despite the calling in of all the neighbors, the police have been unable positively to identify the decomposed body found in the cellar as that of Mrs. Crippen, though they are firmly of that belief.

None of the neighbors has seen Mrs. Crippen since February when her husband gave it out that she had gone to the continent for a visit.

Notice of Death Appears
A short time afterward there appeared a notice in the papers that Mrs. Crippen had died abroad. Then another woman, known as Mrs. Crippen, appeared at the Hilldrop Crescent house. The dentist and the second "Mrs. Crippen" were seen in the house as late as last Saturday. The crime is so unusual and surrounded by such peculiar features that the best operatives of Scotland Yard have been detailed to seek the missing dentist.

The dead woman, if she is really Mrs. Crippen, was famous all over England and the continent as a concert singer, owing to the wonderful range of her voice. It is said she was born in Philadelphia, the daughter of a Polish family of noble birth, who had fled from Poland to escape persecution. The mother and father, it is understood, tried to hide their identity even from the girl, but sent her to Europe to have her voice cultivated. She had her first professional appearance in London under the name of Belle Elmore, and sprang into instant favor.

Found Her Title
Returning to Philadelphia, it is said, she met a dentist named Crippen. After her marriage, it is declared, she began making a search through papers left by her father.

TELLS JURY TO INDICT THE MEN

First Real Effort to Put Big Law Violators in Jail Is Started in Chicago

LANDIS LAYS DOWN THE LAW

Language of the Court Is Taken to Impress Jury that Indictments Are Wanted

CHICAGO, July 14.—"Do not indict a mere alias, do not indict a corporation when an individual is responsible—follow the trail down to the real offender."

Judge Landis today in the foregoing statement to the grand jury empaneled to investigate the meat packers trust carried out his plan to force the indictment of individuals rather than the corporations.

Landis' Talk to Jury
After inquiring as to whether any of the jurors had been approached regarding the case and as to whether they were prejudiced against the Sherman anti-trust law, Judge Landis read sections of the law.

"It will be your duty to inquire whether within three years any person or persons subject to the jurisdiction of this court have made any contract, or entered into any combination, or conspiracy whereby free competition in the industry referred to has been destroyed or restrained," he said. "To constitute the offense it is not essential that there should be a purpose to completely eliminate competition for the statute forbids a combination or conspiracy designed to restrict it."

"The gist of the crime is the common understanding or agreement by the parties to do the thing. And by understanding or agreement is not necessarily meant a formal written document. A mere undertaking among the parties to work or co-operate to a common purpose is all that is essential and this may appear, although there is no evidence of spoken or written words between the conspirators or a meeting of the conspirators, or their even knowing all the plans for the accomplishment of the result, either in a general way or in detail. The nature of the offense is such that first hand information respecting its commission is rarely obtainable. Ordinarily it is necessary to rely on facts and circumstances, the acts of persons accused to establish a conspiracy."

"It sometimes happens," said Landis, "that a person about to violate a law takes a name other than his own. To illustrate: John Jones, undertaking to counterfeit gold dollars, changes himself to John Smith or to the Metals Fabricating Company, a corporation and in that name does that thing forbidden. If your investigations disclose such a case, don't indict a mere alias but follow the trail wherever it may lead until you have located, identified and pointed out the real offenders."

The government attorneys were highly pleased with the court's instructions and declared that the investigation of the alleged trust would be the most thorough ever conducted.

Nearly 100 lawyers, representing the government, the packing corporations and the packers individually, were in the court room when the charge was read. U. S. Dist. Atty. Sims, Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Wilkerson and Asst. Atty. Gen. Kenyon led the government forces.

Kenyon gave out a statement saying that he had reached an agreement with Dist. Atty. Sims and that he would remain here as the prosecutor's aid during the investigation. This statement is considered a proof that the threatened clash between the local authorities and those at Washington has been averted.

After reading his instructions, Judge Landis dismissed the jury until tomorrow morning when the investigation will begin.

The court cautioned the jurors against "influence by the arguments sometimes heard that law enforcement will unsettle business."

PORTLAND FIRE NETS BIG LOSS

Two Are Dead, Six Missing, 150 Homeless and $500,000 Loss Sustained by Night Blaze

PORTLAND, Ore., July 14.—Two men are dead, six are missing and 150 families are homeless as the result of the fire which swept through the business district of Portland early today, entailing a loss of upwards of $500,000.

The fire started in the old exposition building and completely destroyed it. Before the firemen could control the blaze it had swept on toward the Multnomah Athletic club and destroyed it and four uptown hotels and a number of stores and residences. The flames were controlled at daylight.

Stabled in the basement of the exposition building were 145 horses, all of which perished.

Seven Blocks Burned.
The fire swept seven city blocks, leaving them almost clean. The heaviest losses were sustained by the old exposition building company and the Multnomah Athletic club, the damage in each case running to $75,000.

The exposition was one of the oldest buildings in the city, having been erected 23 years ago as an auditorium. Some of the country's most famous men have been entertained in this building. Among the losses sustained by the athletic club was the destruction of the grandstand and bleachers on the Multnomah Athletic field. On this field President Taft was received when he visited Portland. The fire is said to have started in the basement of the exposition building.

RAILROAD STRIKE SEEMS INEVITABLE

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—"Unless we are able to obtain from the Pennsylvania railroad the demands which we have made, we unquestionably will call a strike. The men have now voted on the question; they are in deadly earnest."

The foregoing statement made by W. G. Lee, president of the order of railway trainmen, as he entered the conference with the railroad officials shortly before noon today, would indicate that the situation between the company and the men which has been strained for several months, had become critical over night.

Following this morning conference between the committees representing the trainmen and conductors of the Pennsylvania and General Manager Meyer, union officials declared they were well satisfied with the result. A sub-committee of twelve resumed the conference with Meyer this afternoon. It was expected this sub-committee would work out a plan for an amicable settlement.

TURNKEY BROWN REMOVED TODAY

Sheriff William Duncan Complies with the Request of the County Board

JAMES LANG IS APPOINTED

Other Charges Made Against Sheriff Will Be Investigated by District Attorney

In compliance with the request of the county board of supervisors Sheriff William Duncan this morning removed Turnkey Frank Brown from office and appointed James Lang to succeed him. This action was taken when District Attorney James Thompson called at the sheriff's office this morning and asked him what action he would take with reference to the resolution adopted by the county board.

The sheriff admitted to the district attorney that the turnkey had not been conducting the affairs at the jail in a proper manner. He said he called Brown's attention to the matter upon several occasions and told him that he was too careless in handling prisoners around the jail. It therefore took no urging on the part of the sheriff to comply with the request to have Brown removed from office.

In regard to other charges made against the sheriff, District Attorney Thompson says Mr. Duncan has consented to show him the records of his office since he has been sheriff and if anything is found to be wrong it will be willingly rectified. Regarding the filing of bills with the claims committee of the county board of prisoners who were not at the jail, the sheriff told Mr. Thompson that this had been left entirely in the hands of Mr. Brown. If any bills had been presented for board for prisoners who had made their escape, he said he did not know it. Brown, he said, made out the bills and had full charge of the prisoners.

Mr. Thompson says he will look over the records with Mr. Duncan at an early date.

James Lang, the new turnkey, has been balliff in the circuit court during Sheriff Duncan's administration. He was formerly turnkey and has been connected with the sheriff's office off and on for many years.

OTT DENIES THE UNION STATEMENTS

Manager Will Ott of the Segelke & Kohlhaas company, today emphatically denied the statement made by the union officials yesterday to the effect that there are but 37 men on duty in the plant. The time clocks shows 84 men went to work this morning, and Mr. Ott insists that that is the exact number here, and that taking into consideration a force at Sparta and the men on the road approximately 100 men are still at their posts. Mr. Ott invited The Tribune to send a representative to watch the men check in in the morning and verify his statements.

The union officials persist in their declaration that 109 men who have joined the union report daily at 8 a. m. and 2 p. m., hence could not be on duty and that their pickets report 37 men at work. The controversy on this point seems likely to lead to a "show down."

MINISTER AND GIRL RETURN

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 14.—Arm in arm the minister carrying their suit cases and Sheriff Hathaway of Schnectady, N. Y., walking close behind, Rev. Clinton Dewitt Sharp and Eunice Whitaker, 14, with whom he left the New York town left police quarters today to start back home. They are confident they can square things with the minister's wife, Miss Whitaker hopes that Mrs. Sharp will take her into her home as a foster daughter. Sheriff Hathaway does not believe things will end so sweetly. Feeling in Schnectady is very bitter against Sharp.

CHICAGO MYSTERY CLEARED TODAY

CHICAGO, July 14.—The mystery surrounding the shooting of Ray Mahany by Elmer Cooper was cleared today when "Ted" Burgess was found with a wound in his back and confessed, the police say, that he and the dead youth attempted to hold up Cooper. John Rush, on whose sister Cooper was calling, he said, helped plan the robbery, but became frightened at the last minute and did not participate in the attack on Cooper.

SUPERIOR PLAYER BREAKS HIS LEG

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 14.—Outfielder Clemens of the local club broke his leg in the game with Winona yesterday in sliding to second base. Clemens is a fast man and his services will be missed. This is the second bad accident to the Red Sox, McCulloch having broken his leg in the early part of the season.

SUSPEND RATES FOR INVESTIGATION

Interstate Commerce Commission Takes Important Step Today in Its Newest Work

COMMUTATION RATES STAY

Various Other Rates Are Affected by Most Radical Stand Yet Taken by Arbitrators

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.—The interstate commerce commission today established a big milestone in the commercial history of the country by deciding:

To suspend all general freight rate increases, pending investigation.

Not to suspend increased commutation rates affecting New York city, travel.

To suspend proposed increased rates on milk shipped to Boston.

For the first time the commission has made sweeping use of the power to suspend rates given it by the new railroad law. In one case it was used in favor of the railroads and in two cases against them.

The commission declared its intention to suspend from time to time all the general freight rate increases proposed by railroads.

This affects practically every railroad system in the country, except those in the southeast. It means the suspension of 11,000 tariffs, some of which comprise thousands of proposed increases in rates.

It is indicated that some of these rates will be approved by the commission to take effect August 1. The bulk of the rates will be suspended, pending investigation, for 120 days from the time that they were to take effect.

ELKS IN GREAT DETROIT PARADE

DETROIT, Mich., July 14.—Fully 100,000 people lined the streets of Detroit for five hours today to watch fifteen thousand Elks in all manner of costumes, go marching by. The eight miles of line of march was packed ten or more deep on each side of the street.

Old General Humdity was on the job, too. While he did not line up in the parade, he kept the paraders uncomfortable and aided by a soaring thermometer gave the nurses and doctors in the scores of temporary hospitals along the line plenty to do.

After the parade today's big feature is the aeroplane flights scheduled by Arch Hovey and Duval La Chapelle, two of the Wright air men. The flights will be made at the state fair grounds.

A number of special entertainments and his adherents agreed to in-ner tonight complete today's schedule. The thousands continued to pour into the city today and upwards of 55,000 Elks are now registered.

STEAMERS TIE UP ON MISSISSIPPI

Low Stage of Water Compels All but Smallest Boats to Quit Navigation

The present low stage of water in the Mississippi river is breaking all low water records. The stage at La Crosse is 9.8 inches which is the lowest mark reached at this season of the year on record.

The effect of this low stage is being felt throughout the upper Mississippi valley. From Davenport on below, the inconvenience is less pronounced, but at the present time the Diamond Joe line of steamers is making no effort to carry on business. The Eclipse, which for several years has made regular trips, running packet between Dubuque and Prairie du Chien and handling freight and passengers to and from these and all intermediate points, has been compelled to abandon its journeys. A week ago it became stuck on a sandbar and remained there twenty-four hours.

There are a few small raft boats plying the stream in its upper reaches, but this constitutes all the traffic that is being carried on, aside from that of launches.

River Work Resumed

Active work is under way by the government fleet in clearing away bars and getting, as far as possible, the stream into navigable condition. The recent announcement of the congressional appropriation, small as it is, has made it possible for a resumption of river work.

A one foot stage, to the lay mind, means very little. That it is a low stage of water the public generally understands, yet there is plenty of water were it evenly distributed. Throughout the greater portion of the great reaches of the stream the channel is ample. It is the bars that do the harm, one being sufficient to stop all river traffic. It is these that compel the use of the powerful dredges and suction pumps with which the government fleet is equipped. During low water these bars become serious factors.

No June Rise

Contrary to generally accepted opinion regarding the cause of the present low water, old river men do not ascribe it to the denuding of the forest lands to the north. They hold it is a matter of lack of precipitation of moisture. Periods of high and low water have alternated for forty years. These periods have run in cycles of seven years. The last period of fairly high water has been in existence nine years and the low water mark was established in 1864 and long before there had been any serious denuding of the northern timber tracts.

There was no semblance of a June rise the present year. The season has been dry throughout and whether steamboating by the packet lines will be resumed depends entirely upon the will of the weather man. Heavy rains will restore it, and that only.

Seeing that it was not going to stop he attempted to get off while the train was running about 12 miles an hour. He was in company with his son who got off the train all right but when the old man attempted to get off his feet got caught under the wheels crushing one badly, and throwing him to the ground. The body was taken Tuesday to Stetsonville, Wis., for burial.

Contractors Thill, Manning & Whalen finished their contract for the sewer and water pipes along Water street and have returned to La Crosse. The absence of the storms has favored them and they got through well inside of their contract time, and the test indicated that the work was all right except that at the south end of the water connection a break in the cross connection was accidentally made, and the repairs may require the trench to be held open for a while to see if it continues to work all right. There are a few service connections to be made yet but these will not cause much obstruction to the street which will be open until the paving work starts.

DOOR IS CLOSED IN MANCHURIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 14.—That the third clause of the Russo-Japanese treaty practically closed the door to Manchuria, is the opinion expressed today by a prominent Chinese diplomat whose name is withheld.

This clause, he declares, enables Russia and Japan to raise the veto on their Manchurian railroad to the complete exclusion of British and American and even Chinese merchants, should the two powers signatory to the treaty deem foreign mercantile activities "a menace to the status quo."

The diplomat declares that, although Japan and Russia are not intruders in China, even Chinese will be barred from trading in Manchuria under the new treaty. He believes that America, Germany, England and other powers will put out the strongest sort of protests at the first attempt by Russia and Japan to enforce their agreement.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT BLOOD HUMORS

When we see persons with soft, smooth skins we know at once that the blood is pure and healthy, that the cuticle is being sufficiently and properly nourished by the circulation. But when the blood becomes infected with any unhealthy humor the effect is shown by eruptions, boils, pimples, or some definitely marked skin disease such as Eczema, Acne, Tetter, etc. Humors get into the blood usually, because of a sluggish condition of those members whose duty it is to collect and carry off the waste and refuse matter of the system. This unhealthy matter, left in the system, sours and ferments and is soon absorbed into the circulation, filling the blood with an irritating humor. Remove these humors and the skin disease can not exist, because its very cause is destroyed. S. S. S. cures all humors of the blood because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers. It cleanses the blood of every particle of unhealthy matter, enriches the circulation and causes it to supply healthful nourishment to all skin tissues. Then the skin becomes soft and clear. Local applications can not cure, they can only soothe by temporarily reducing the inflammation, but the cause remains in the circulation and the eruption will be no nearer well when the external treatment is left off. The humors must be removed and nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. Pure blood makes healthy skins and S. S. S. makes pure blood. Book on Skin Diseases free to all who write and request it.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

It should be worth while to examine in some detail the reasons given for the high cost of living, as a result of the inquiry made by the Lodge committee. According to the report now published, the following reasons are "among those which have contributed to the advance in prices:"

"Increased cost of production of farm products by reason of higher land values and higher wages.

"Increased demand for farm products and food.

"Shifting of population from food-producing to food-consuming occupations and localities.

"Immigration to food-consuming localities.

"Reduced fertility of land resulting in lower average production or in increased expenditures for fertilization.

"Increased banking facilities in agricultural localities which enable farmers to hold their crops and market to the best advantage. This results in steady prices, but also tends to advance prices.

"Reduced supply convenient to transportation facilities of such commodities as timber.

"Cold storage plants which result in preventing extreme fluctuations of price of certain commodities with the seasons, but by enabling the wholesalers to buy and sell at the best possible advantage tend to advance prices.

"Increased cost of distribution.

"Industrial combinations.

"Organizations of producers or of dealers.

"Advertising.

"Increased money supply.

"Over-capitalization.

"Higher standard of living."

It need hardly be said that the report can find no good reason for ascribing any of the high cost of living to the tariff. The inquiry, in fact, was directed towards finding something else on which to blame our troubles, and it will be interesting to see to what extent it succeeds.

Any close analysis shows at once that the causes here given are largely secondary. "Immigration to food-consuming localities" and the shifting population in the same direction mean virtually the same thing, and are not a cause, but a result. The increased cost of the production of farm products must at least have been partly due to the higher values established by the increased cost of farm machinery, and the increased price of labor due to the better inducements offered for it by highly protected industries. We know that high tariff means higher wages, even although, as we have repeatedly pointed out in these columns, wages do not advance as rapidly as the cost of living.

Reduced fertility of lands is in part a result of overprotecting the farmer. He would adopt better methods of fertilization on lower prices for what he produces, and trust to the larger yield per acre to equalize his profits. He would probably have to work harder, but he would create so much more wealth that the whole country would be benefitted. We do not believe that increased banking facilities have so greatly tended to advance prices by enabling the farmers to hold their crops until the market suits them. This might be true of individual years, but year in and year out the farmer would make enough mistakes to equalize results.

Some of the reasons given are undoubtedly contributory causes, and more stress should certainly have been laid upon the lower purchasing power of gold. Nothing whatever is said of the inflation of our currency, nor of inflation generally and particularly that represented by the enormous increase in our bank loans.

A good deal must be forgiven the committee when there were so many toes on which it dared not tread. The tariff had to be whitewashed by its friends, and they are equally pledged to our present indefensible banking and currency system.

IT MUST BE SUSTAINED

The services of the steamer La Crosse, operated by the La Crosse-Wabasha Packet company, are appreciated by La Crosse people. It is a fine convenience for passenger traffic, and no more pleasant excursion can be imagined that is afforded by the trip to Wabasha and return.

But the passenger list cannot be expected to justify the expense of running the boat, and we deem it no injustice to other lines to suggest that insofar as is possible La Crosse people should patronize the boat as a conveyor of freight. The transportation rates are reasonable and the service is regular and prompt.

The company announces that it has taken steps to put the boat on the safest sort of basis as an excursion steamer, and the report of the government inspectors sustains this assertion.

The efforts of the Merchants' association which have resulted in the assurance that the downtown streets will enjoy permanently street lamps of attractive modern design deserves recognition by a grateful public. The new method will add much to the beauty of the business section; it promises to afford pleasure to citizens and to enhance the value of window displays as an advertising medium. Nothing sets a city off better than neatly dressed store windows under good illumination, and the impression made upon strangers visiting La Crosse will doubtless be carried abroad and serve to give La Crosse some good advertising.

When William F. Wolfe was named as chairman of the state democratic convention, there was no one among his fellow citizens to doubt that he would fill the office with a dignity and eloquence creditable to his home city. Mr. Wolfe would have measured up well to a bigger task, and here at home the keenness and progressiveness of his political ideas is understood and appreciated as thoroughly as if he had not pronounced them in a powerful address.

The proposed international exhibition at Balboa, Spain, in 1912, is now practically a certainty. It is to cost $1,280,000.

On Account of Darkness
Two baseball teams, which were made up of negro players, exhibited a great contest of the national game before a large crowd on the open lots at Twelfth and Porter streets, Saturday afternoon.

The score stood 2 to 2 in the eighth inning. Two men were on bases, two players out, when the pitcher of one of the nines walloped the ball to midcenter. He sprinted around the bases as if in pursuit of a dozen chickens.

The center fielder of the opposing team shot the ball with terrific speed toward the fourth station, and as the runner was about to cross the plate the catcher touched him with the horsehide. The negro umpire shouted at the top of his voice:

"De runner am safe!" and as the word "safe" died away the many spectators began to crowd around the umpire.

"What's dat?" shouted one. "You done be blin'," yelled another, and a few other remarks followed. The man argued for a while, and when the entire mob was crowded around him the umpire's voice rang out in loud tones:

"Game called on account of darkness!"—Philadelphia Times.

Another Matter

"I tell you, my dear boy, I stand on my rights. I believe a man should be the master of his own house."

"Of course, that's all right, but what I want to know is if you are allowed to smoke in the parlor?"—Baltimore American.

A Weak Appeal

An editor was talking in San Francisco about Jim Jeffries.

"Jim was a little crusty when he started training," said the editor. "He hated the idea, you know, of removing all that fat. He hated the idea of the weeks of self denial and abstinence that lay before him."

"Jim was grumbling to me about this one day at the Seal Rock house. 'I hate the prospect of training,' he said. 'Training appeals to me just about as strongly as the charity soup appealed to the old apple woman.'"

"Charity soup!" said she. "Bosh! I'll tell you how they concoct that. They just take a quart of water and boil it down to a pint to make it strong."—New York Star.

He Spoke for the Bride

At a marriage service performed some time ago in a little country church in Berkshire, when the minister said in solemn tone: "Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?" instead of the woman answering for herself, a gruff man's voice answered:

"O! will."

The minister looked up, very much perplexed, and paused. He repeated the sentence, and again the same gruff voice answered:

"O! will."

Again the minister looked up, surprised, not knowing what to make of it, when one of the groomsmen at the end of the row said:

"Er be deaf. O! be answering

for 'er."—London Telegraph.

Some Pay More
The man was looking over the family bills as his wife glanced through the paper.
"Oh, John," she said, it tells here of a young fellow who was fined $6.80 for flirting."
"That's cheaper than I got off," replied the man, his eye still on the bills.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Art for Art's Thake
"Which tooth?" Inquired the man of forceps grimly.
"Any one you like," responded the victim calmly, "so long as it's a front one."

"But—" began the astonished dentist.
"Hurry!" thundered the visitor. With bleeding heart the operator hitched forceps on to a bit of absolutely sound ivory, dragged his patient three times round the room, and—

"Hey, presto," smiled the dentist. "It's out! But will you be so good as to tell me why on earth you wanted a sound tooth extracted?"

"By all means," responded the patient. "You see, I'm an actor, and I have to take a part where the thespian lispeth. At fifth I could not mather it, but now I thur it'll be a thimply threarming, thuctheth!"—Answers.

DANDRUFF DON'T WASH OUT

The Germ That Causes It Has to Be Destroyed, to Cure Dandruff

Many a woman spends an hour twice a week scouring her scalp, thinking that by scrubbing off the scurf she will cure the dandruff. Two hours a week, at the age of 40 years, she has spent 260 days of 12 hours each, or two-thirds of a year of her life, in that vain hope; vain because you can't cure dandruff without killing the dandruff germ, and the only hair preparation on earth that will do that is Newbro's "Herpicide"—also a delightful hair dressing, and thorough antiseptic against all contagion from use of other's hair brushes. "Oh, the beautiful world!"
"Do you recall the first day I met you?" he asked.
"Yes. A little more and that dog would have killed the big gander. What little things bring about big ones! When I walked into the city that day, had any one told me that I should fall in love, I should have laughed."

"And I!"
Arm in arm they went on. Sometimes Gretchen sang; often he put her hand to his lips. By and by they came abreast of an old Gypsy. He wore a coat of Joseph's, and his face was as lined as a frost-bitten apple. But his eyes were keen and undimmed, and he walked confidently and erect, like a man who has always lived in the open.

"Will you tell me how to find the Adlergasse?" he asked in broken German. His accent was that of a Magyar. He had a smattering of a dozen tongues at his command, for in his time he had crossed and recrossed the Danube the Rhine and the Rhone.

They carelessly gave him specific directions and passed on. He followed grimly, like fate, whose agent he was, though long delayed. When he reached the Adlergasse he looked for a sign. He came to a stop in front of the dingy shop of the clock-mender. He went inside, and the ancient clock-mender looked up from his work, for he was always working.

He rose wearily and asked what he could do for his customer. His eyes were bothering him, so the fact that the man was a Gypsy did not at first impress him.

The Gypsy smiled mysteriously and laid a hand on his heart.
"Who are you?" sharply demanded the clock-mender.

"Who I am does not matter. I am he whom you seek."

"God in Heaven!" The bony hands of the clock-mender shot out and clutched the other's coat in a grip which shook, so intense was it.

The Gypsy released himself slowly. "But first show me your pretty crowns and the paper which will give me immunity from the police. I know something about you. You never break your word. That is why I came. Your crowns, and why I offered, and immunity; then I speak."

"Man, I can give you the crowns, but God knows I have no longer the power to give you immunity."

"So?"
The Gypsy shouldered his bundle. "For God's sake, wait!" begged the clock-mender.

But the Gypsy walked out, unheeding.

CHAPTER XVIII.

A White Scar.

Two days later, in the afternoon. "Grumbach," said Carmichael, "what the deuce were you looking at the other night, with those opera-glasses?"

"At the ball?" Grumbach pressed down the ash in his pipe and brushed his thumb on his sleeve. "I was looking into the past."

"With a pair of opera-glasses?"
"Yes," Grumbach was perfectly serious.

"Oh, phaw! You were following her highness with them. I want to know why."

"She is beautiful."

"You made a promise to me not long ago."

"I did?" non-committally.

"Yes. Soon I shall be shaking the dust of Dreiberg, and I want to know beforehand what this Chinese puzzle is. What did you do that compelled your flight from Ehrenstein?"

Grumbach's pipe hung pendulous in his hand. He swung it to and fro absently.

"I am waiting. Remember, you are an American citizen, for all that you were born here. If anything should happen to you, I must know the whole story in order to help you. You know that you may trust me."

"It isn't that, Captain. I have grown to like you in these few days."

"What has that to do with it?" impatiently.

"Nothing, perhaps. Only, if I tell you, you will not be my friend."

"Nonsense! What you did sixteen years ago doesn't matter now. It is enough for me that you fought in my regiment, and that you were a brave soldier."

"Those opera-glasses; it was an idea. Well, since you will know, I was a gardener's boy. I worked under my brother Hermann. I used to ask the nurse, who had charge of her serene highness, where she would go each day. Then I'd cut flowers and meet them on the road somewhere and give the bouquet to the child. There was never any escort; a footman and a driver. The little one was always greatly pleased, and she would call me Hans. I was in love those days." Grumbach laughed with bitterness. "Yes, even I. Her name was Tekla, and she was a jade. I wanted to run away, but I had no money. I had already secured a passport; no matter how. It was the first affair, and I was desperately hurt. One day a Gypsy came to me. I shall always know him by the yellow spot in one of his black eyes. I was given a thousand crowns to tell him which road her highness was to be driven over the next day. As I said, I was mad with love. Why a Gypsy should want to know where her highness was going to ride was of no consequence to me. I told him. I was to get the money the same night. It was thus that her highness was stolen; it was thus that I became accessory before the fact, as the lawyers say. Flight with a band of Magyar Gipsies; weary days in the mountains, with detachments of troops scouring the whole duchy. Finally I escaped. A fortune was offered for the immediate return of the child. At the time I believed that it was an abduction for ransom. But no one ever came forward for the reward. There was a price on my head when it was known that I had fled." Grumbach stared into his pipe without seeing anything.

EDW. ANDERSON FALLS FROM CAR

In the Milwaukee Yards
and Is Badly Bruised but Not Seriously Hurt; Go-

Ed Anderson, Hammond, Ind., who is beating his way to the western harvest fields in search of work fell from the top of a slowly moving freight car in the lower Milwaukee yards about 8 o'clock this morning badly bruising his shoulders and back and receiving a general shake-up which necessitated the services of a physician.

How the man fell from the box car no one knows. He was picked up by railroad men and taken to the Milwaukee station on the North side and Dr. Wolf and the police notified. Detective Taylor took the man to Dr. Wolf's office in a carriage and the investigation by the doctor showed that the man was not as badly injured as he thought he was. He was bruised about the shoulders and the lower part of the back. After medical attention he was able to resume his journey west.

MAIDEN AUNTS RULE FAMILY

In at least one portion of the world the paternal aunt of a family of children is of much consequence in the scheme of family organization. That is in the Banks islands, a part of the Melanesian islands in the South seas, where the natives hold her in unusual esteem and give her an exalted position.

Among the inhabitants of the Banks islands the father's sister must never be addressed by her own name by her nephew or niece, but by some special title of respect adopted by her. A visitor to the islands tells of an instance in which a woman had been reduced to tears because this mark of respect had been withheld. The mother might be spoken to strongly, emphatically, with assurance; but a man would never even take the initiative in addressing his maternal aunt, but would always wait until he had first been spoken to. It was her function to choose the man's wife, and to a very considerable extent community of goods prevailed between aunt and nephew.

In these islands there is also a unique method of determining the parentage of a child. It is determined ceremonially by the act of payment to the woman selected to look after the mother. This woman is selected by the father's sister. In the ordinary course, the actual father pays the money, but if another is more anxious than himself to own the child he may be forestalled in this payment, and lose his right to his own child. The father's sister is entitled to some of the child's nail parings, and she keeps these hidden in a leaf and hung about her neck. The possession of them has to be acknowledged by the child, who can be called upon to give a feast in his aunt's honor. After the birth of the first-born child in the island of Motlay all the women of the village come to the house with their mats and sleep there for 30 days, feasting on a different kind of food every day, which they are privileged to take from the gardens of any one, indicating an early practice of communal property.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine

"I am Sir Evelyn Wood," was the response. "Yah," said Tommy Atkins, "if Sir Evelyn 'eard you say that, 'e'd punch your 'ead for you!"

"Yes, sir," said the salesgirl, "candy has gone up a quarter on the pound."

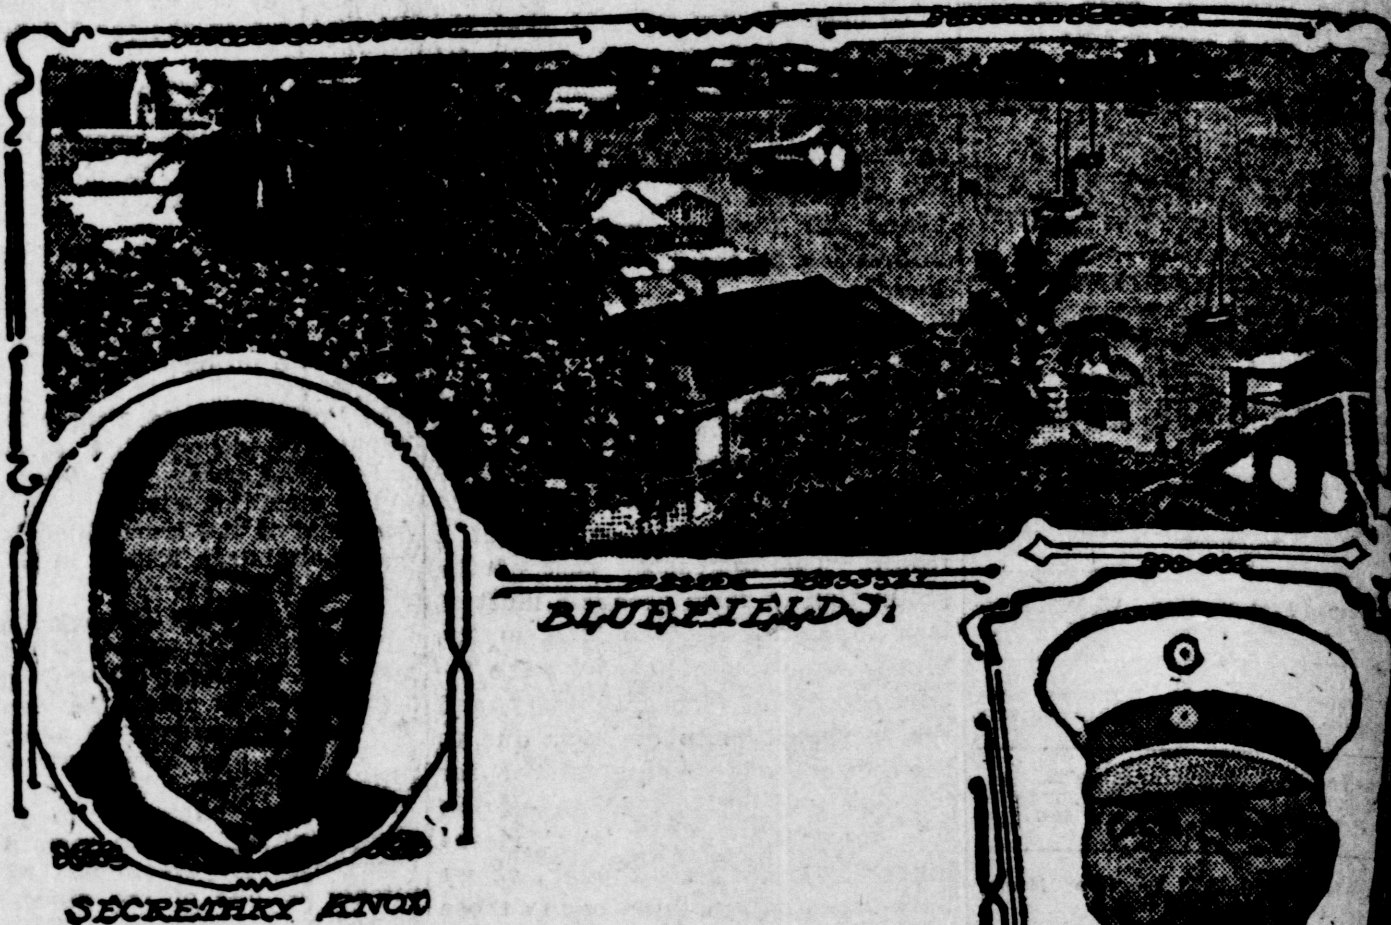

Regrettably the young man walks away and calls at another shop.

"Yes, sir," explains the salesgirl there, "flowers have gone up this week. Roses are a dollar more on the dozen."

With a doleful look the young man leaves the shop, murmuring to himself: "The higher cost of loving will work many hardships."—Judge.

MASS MEETING TO DISCUSS WATER

North Side Progressive
League will Call Meeting
Soon; Dickinson and Olson to Speak

At the monthly meeting of the North Side Progressive League last night at the Woodmen hall a resolution was passed to call a mass meeting of the citizens of North La Crosse and others interested to listen to a public discussion of the well water system by C. W. Dickinson and Barney Olson, considered the two best versed men in the city on the subject.

The passing of the resolution came after some discussion of the proposed auxiliary well for the North side, which was fully discussed in The Tribune last night. Rev. Murphy, L. E. La Vaque, Albert Allen, Daniel Norton, Alderman Granke, George Marvin and Prof. Harry Spence all spoke in favor of the well, all being of the opinion that it should be brought before the council at once and installed as soon as possible. Prof. Spence reported to the league that the chairman of the water committee had refused to consider the testing of the Sawyer and Austin well for water purposes.

It is the plan of the league to

call this mass meeting in August. Mr. Dickinson is at present out of city and will not return until that time.

The matter of Hammond Chute was spoken of and the league was of the opinion that the chute should be dammed to allow a sufficient amount of water to flow into Black river to cover the mouth of the North side sewers which are now exposed.

The league was of the opinion that nothing should be done with the electric light proposition until the water question was settled.

SELF-DENIAL OFTEN WRONG

Selflessness to a certain point is not only allowable but commendable. The mother who, meaning to be womanly, allows her husband and children to ride over her rough-shoulders in preparing trouble for herself, is not wise, trouble for those whom she is spoiling day by day. She would be doing her duty more truly by her family if she remembered that she, as well as they, had responsibilities and must be respected, and, moreover, which must be honored.

A family is a little kingdom, in which the mother and father are sovereigns, who must rule wisely, dispensing justice to all—themselves, except the number—if the kingdom is to remain happy and prosperous. As queen, must sit beside her husband, her growing sons and daughters, and think proudly and tenderly that "mother or child's—of girl's—mother is a hold a candle to ours."

Our duty to ourselves begins when we first realize that the world contains an interesting person and "I," and continue to live in the present moment, in this transient world.

EDW. ANDERSON FALLS FROM CAR

In the Milwaukee Yards and Is Badly Bruised but Not Seriously Hurt; Going to Harvest Fields

Ed Anderson, Hammond, Ind., who is beating his way to the western harvest fields in search of work fell from the top of a slowly moving freight car in the lower Milwaukee yards about 8 o'clock this morning badly bruising his shoulders and back and receiving a general shake-up which necessitated the services of a physician.

How the man fell from the box car no one knows. He was picked up by railroad men and taken to the Milwaukee station on the North side and Dr. Wolf and the police notified. Detective Taylor took the man to Dr. Wolf's office in a carriage and the investigation by the doctor showed that the man was not as badly injured as he thought he was. He was bruised about the shoulders and the lower part of the back. After medical attention he was able to resume his journey west.

MAIDEN AUNTS RULE FAMILY

In at least one portion of the world the paternal aunt of a family of children is of much consequence in the scheme of family organization. That is in the Banks islands, a part of the Melanesian islands in the South seas, where the natives hold her in unusual esteem and give her an exalted position.

Among the inhabitants of the Banks islands the father's sister must never be addressed by her own name by her nephew or niece, but by some special title of respect adopted by her. A visitor to the islands tells of an instance in which a woman had been reduced to tears because this mark of respect had been withheld. The mother might be spoken to strongly, emphatically, with assurance; but a man would never even take the initiative in addressing his maternal aunt, but would always wait until he had first been spoken to. It was her function to choose the man's wife, and to a very considerable extent community of goods prevailed between aunt and nephew.

In these islands there is also a unique method of determining the parentage of a child. It is determined ceremoniously by the act of payment to the woman selected to look after the mother. This woman is selected by the father's sister. In the ordinary course, the actual father pays the money, but if another is more anxious than himself to own the child he may be forestalled in this payment, and lose his right to his own child. The father's sister is entitled to some of the child's nail parings, and she keeps these hidden in a leaf and hung about her neck. The possession of them has to be acknowledged by the child, who can be called upon to give a feast in his aunt's honor. After the birth of the first-born child in the island of Motlay all the women of the village come to the house with their mats and sleep there for 30 days, feasting on a different kind of food every day, which they are privileged to take from the gardens of any one, indicating an early practice of communal property.—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

Joke on Famous Soldier.

Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, perhaps the most brilliant soldier of his day, hardly looks the part in mufti. One day he was at Aldershot railway station in plain clothes, unattended by an A. D. C., when a smart young private came along. "Why don't you salute me, young man?" said the general, in his suave, off-duty tones. "Because I don't know who you are," said Tommy. "I am Sir Evelyn Wood," was the response. "Yah," said Tommy Atkins, "if Sir Evelyn 'eard you say that, 'e'd punch your 'ead for you!"

H. C. of L.

"Yes, sir," said the salesgirl, "candy has gone up a quarter on the pound."

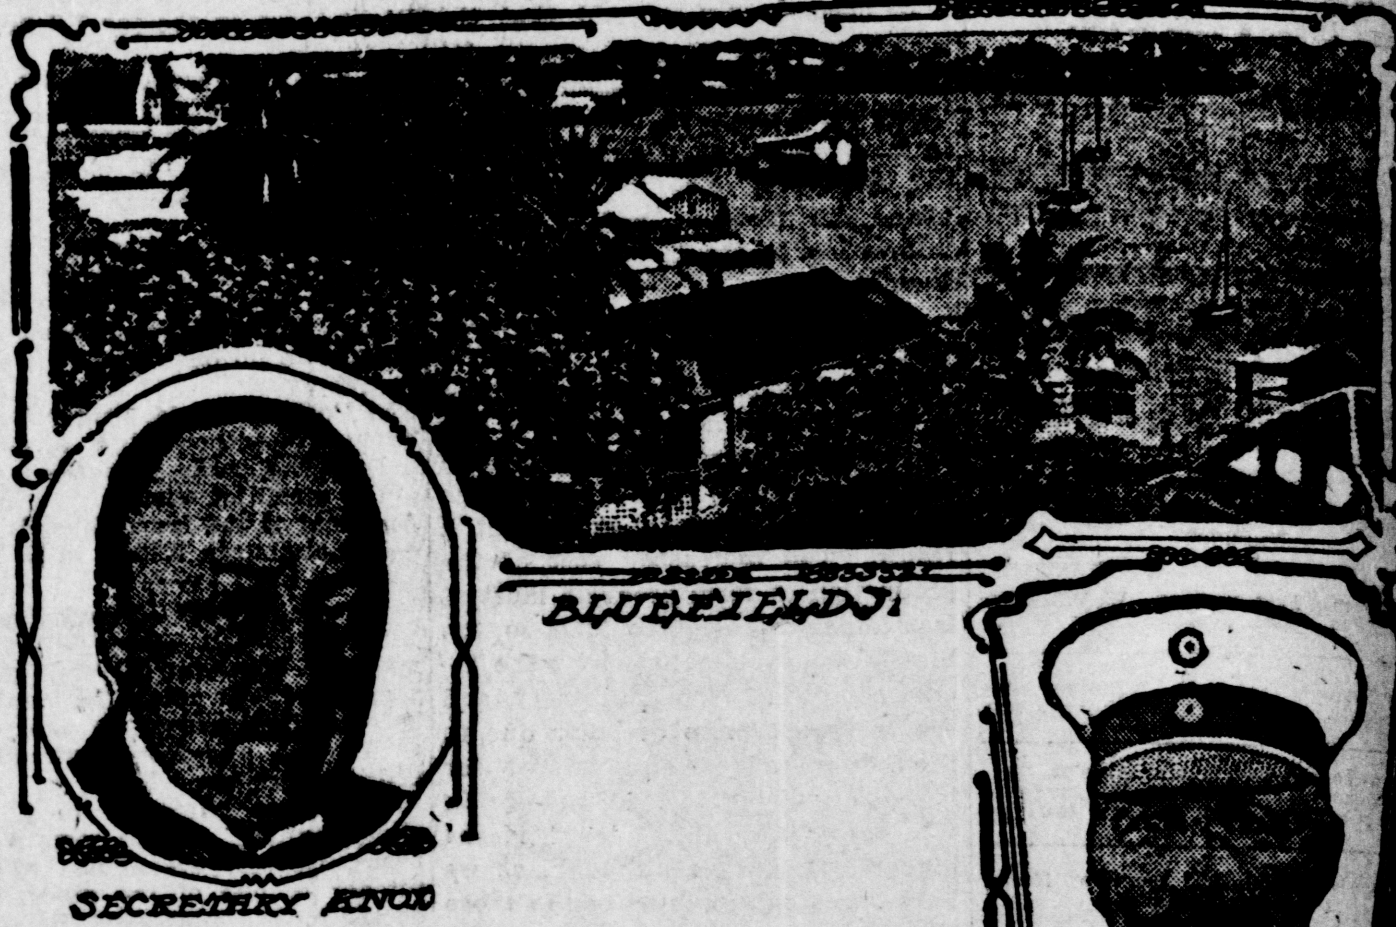

Regrettably the young man walks away and calls at another shop.

"Yes, sir," explains the salesgirl there, "flowers have gone up this week. Roses are a dollar more on the dozen."

With a doubtful look the young man leaves the shop, murmuring to himself: "The higher cost of living will work many hardships."—Judge.

MASS MEETING TO DISCUSS WATER

North Side Progressive League will Call Meeting Soon; Dickinson and Olson to Speak

At the monthly meeting of the North Side Progressive League last night at the Woodmen hall a resolution was passed to call a mass meeting of the citizens of North La Crosse and others interested to listen to a public discussion of the well water system by C. W. Dickinson and Barney Olson, considered the two best versed men in the city on the subject.

The passing of the resolution came after some discussion of the proposed auxiliary well for the North side, which was fully discussed in The Tribune last night. Rev. Murphy, L. E. La Vaque, Albert Allen, Daniel Norton, Alderman Granke, George Marvin and Prof. Harry Spence all spoke in favor of the well, all being of the opinion that it should be brought before the council at once and installed as soon as possible. Prof. Spence reported to the league that the chairman of the water committee had refused to consider the testing of the Sawyer and Austin well for water purposes.

call this mass meeting in August. Mr. Dickinson is at present out of city and will not return until that time.

The matter of Hammond Chute was spoken of and the league was of the opinion that the chute should be dammed to allow a sufficient amount of water to flow into Black river to cover the mouth of the North side sewers which are now exposed.

The league was of the opinion that nothing should be done with the electric light proposition until the water question was settled.

FOOD FACTS

What an M. D. Learned

A prominent physician down in Georgia, went through a food experience which he makes public: "It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients that the food is a wonderful restorer and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients always gain just as I did in strength and weight, very rapidly."

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely and go to the mountains of this state, but two months there did not improve me; in fact I was not quite as well as when I left home. My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change, then I began to use Grape-Nuts and in two weeks I could walk a mile without the least fatigue and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life."

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers I consider it a duty to make these facts public." Trial 6 days on Grape-Nuts when the regular food does not seem to sustain the body will work miracles. "There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

INSURES LIFE AGAINST MURDER

NEW YORK, July 14.—Having issued insurance policies, covering practically every conceivable risk Lloyd's of London has now insured Russell F. Hopkins, the millionaire son of an Atlanta, Ga., banker, with a magnificent residence at Covington-on-Hudson, against assassination. The young millionaire succeeded in convincing Lloyd's that he hadn't an enemy in the world, but he wanted that assassination insurance anyhow.

Hopkins came to New York as counsel for the republic of Panama and immediately commenced to stir the metropolis. He eloped on a yacht with the granddaughter of a St. Louis patent medicine manufacturer; threatened to drive a team of zebras down Broadway; tried to ship a $5,000 prize bull to J. Domingo Obalida, president of Panama, as a present, and opened a public menagerie on his estate at Covington-on-Hudson.

In the event of an attempt upon the life of Hopkins, Lloyd's, according to the policy, must pay $5,000 to be divided among any three witnesses who may furnish information leading to the capture of the assassin or would-be assassin.

I just had to have them by a certain time and was told that if anybody could make them in so short a time it was Dr. J. W. Lawrence. I went to his office at 10 o'clock in the morning and had my teeth in my mouth at 6 the same evening." Asked if they fit the gentleman said, "They are the best fit I ever had and I have had no less than half a dozen sets." He also remarked that the charges were less than he expected to pay.

ENGLAND FEARS JAPANESE WAR

Since Russo-Jap Treaty Would Go to Any Extreme to Prevent Trouble

LONDON, July 14.—English politicians are giving great heed to any source of information that will reveal America's attitude toward Japan in the light of the recent Russo-Japanese treaty concerning Manchuria.

The British government was aware that Russia's Manchurian policy was giving Japan great concern and as long as Japan was fearful of further trouble from Russia, she was not looking for trouble elsewhere. Now, however, that this fear has been banished by the treaty, there is some anxiety lest Japan assume a more aggressive attitude toward the United States. This anxiety is not one whit lessened by the fact that the Russo-Japanese treaty amounted to an almost slap at Secretary of State Knox's plan for "internationalizing" Manchurian business affairs.

Every time there seems a possibility of trouble between Japan and the United States, the English government gets badly scared. It is unwilling to face the universal storm that would be sure to come from Englishmen should England line up with Japan against America. On the other hand the British government does not see how it can get out of its offensive and defensive alliance with Japan.

Altogether England faces an unpleasant situation in the event of trouble between Japan and America and would go to any extreme to prevent such an outbreak.

In all other respects, England is greatly pleased with the new agreement. Japan, becoming freed of the fear of further aggression on the part of Russia, becomes a more serviceable ally for the English. Russia, relieved of fear of further trouble with Japan, becomes more formidable to Germany and Austria, which is exactly what England wants. China, of which the English are beginning to be afraid, has had a set-back calculated to put a check upon whatever expansion plans it may have been maturing. And, finally, providing the treaty does not result in a further strain in relations between the United States and Japan, the English are well satisfied with the collapse of Japan's ambition toward securing a foothold in Manchuria.

Russia, as a result of the treaty, is expected to begin immediately to take an increased interest in western affairs, while Japan is counted upon to proceed with the annexation of Korea at once.

DAVENPORT GIRL TO WED GOULD

DAVENPORT, Iowa, July 14.—"Yes, my daughter is engaged to Jay Gould, but I do not know just when the wedding is to take place," said Mrs. M. Von Bruner, at her home here today. "My daughter is now in London with the Anna Held company, playing in 'Miss Innocence,' and I understand Mr. Gould is there."

Beatrice Von Bruner was born and raised here, where she was a belle noted for her beauty and musical ability. She attended the Boston conservatory of music, where she became famous. Later she was married to Arthur W. Godfrey, a young Back Bay millionaire, and later divorced.

FORGER TO APPEAL DIVORCE DECREE

CHICAGO, July 14.—Attorneys for Peter Van Vlissingen announced today that they would appeal to the appellate court to set aside a decree of divorce obtained by the wife of the forger, who is now serving a term in the Illinois penitentiary. The decree was granted to Mrs. Van Vlissingen last night after the case had been stubbornly contested by her husband's attorneys for several months.

Mrs. Van Vlissingen was allowed to resume her maiden name, Jessie R. Bland. She was Van Vlissingen's stenographer before their marriage.

ENGLISH "PROPERTY RIGHTS" ATTACKED

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, Eng., July 14.—Because the local magistrates imposed a fine or prison sentence, as alternative, upon an eleven year old boy whose offense was venturing upon the southeastern railroad's right of way here to pluck flowers for his father's grave, the entire bench will have to do some explaining to the secretary of state for home affairs.

The case is a typical example of the ruling class exaggerated respect of the American Federation of Laboring intense hostility toward the "aristocracy oppressors."

The prosecution did not charge that little Benjamin Bridger had done the slightest harm. British railroad rights of way, however, are carefully fenced and jealously guarded that the railroad employees may use them for truck gardening, such privilege being granted to the employees instead of increased wages.

POWERS TO AGREE IN THE ORIENT

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 14.—Although the state department gives official assurance that no chaotic results are to follow the signing of the Russo Japanese treaty, the text of which was made public today, a realignment of the powers with reference to the Manchurian situation is generally regarded as inevitable. By the treaty the combined influence of Japan and Russia becomes the dominating factor in the orient. It is now expected that Great Britain, United States, Germany and France will readily enter into a community of purposes with regard to China.

BIG PICNIC IS A FINE SUCCESS

Annual Event by the Park
Store Proves to Be a Highly Enjoyable
Event

Promptly at 12 o'clock yesterday,
the big doors of the William Doerflinger and Co., Park Store, closed to the business world of the city and about 400 employees and employers, all laughing and smiling in a happy vein assembled in line in front of the establishment and headed by the Kreutz band marched with stirring martial music to the foot of State street where waiting launches made the passage from one shore to the other, taking the merry throng in bunches to Pettibone
park for the big annual picnic of the store. The busy snorting and humming of the launches were heard for some time and the hundreds of lunch baskets were stowed
away for transportation later to be opened and a delectable supper
served to the merry makers made
hungry by the afternoon's sports.

Landing on the island, the picnic-
ers at once let every one know that they had arrived spreading themselves over the park in groups and finding places suitable for the various events which were to be pulled off during the afternoon. Handsome Bill Dolling made the coffee
again but it was an improvement
over last year and most of the partakers stated this morning that they were able to sleep during the night. William is president of the William Doerflinger Company's Employees' Mutual Benefit Association
and after consulting the young ladies he was able to concoct a brand
of Mocha that was a pleasure to the drinkers.

One of the exuberantly funny
events of the afternoon was the tug-
of-war in which the rope broke several times and the tugging heaps of humanity fell to the road side in two masses of live human beings
only to rise to try again. The third time the rope held, what there was left of it, and Commander Louie Specht's aggregation of rope stretchers won. They ought to, for they were principally stove heaters with the blacksmith arm.

A. W. Langenbach, director of the local baseball association umpired
the ball game between Colts
and the Camels, teams composed of store employees and gave a rotten exhibition of work according to the reports around the establishment
this morning. He attempted to work
like Hank O'Day but some say it looked more like some of the Min-ny league arbiters. The winners of course say that the furniture man handled the players, well and that he gave a good exhibition but what can you expect of an amateur game
umpired by an amateur ump.

The Colts captained by Robert Marquard won from the Camels,
led by John Halvorsen by the score of 15 to 10. Jule Hoff and Weigel were announced by Ump Langenbach as the pitchers. Hoff
had his wigglish ball working over time and his team won in a walk. They simply couldn't hit him at all. That fishy ball wiggled
like a fish tail and big chunks
were knocked out of the ozone in vain efforts to locate it.

The Doerflinger team was to have played the second ward nine but they failed to appear and a store
team was picked which nearly beat
the regulars, the score being 6 to 5.

Archie Downey was the star of the afternoon in the athletic events
winning the fencing contest and the swimming event. In the fencing contest two boys in the boat were tipped into the river by the two
in the water getting an unexpected
bath, without the opportunity to remove their clothing.

It was a big event for the girls
and men of the store and much praise is being heard for the Mutual Benefit Association which was behind the affair. The following program of events was carried out:

Much credit is due to Manager
Al Toeller of the book and stationery department, for the success of the picnic. Mr. Toeller while not on the program was an active worker being one of the first on the grounds and laboring with a will
the greater part of the afternoon to make the picnic enjoyable. In fact Al, it must be admitted suffered so that his fellows might have a good time. It looked as though the general manager had gone over to work instead of to become a pic-nicker himself.

LA CROSSE DOING GOOD FIGHTING

Harvey Dee Brown Says
This City will Rank Next
to Milwaukee, in Lecture Last Night

Harvey Dee Brown gave the first
of two lectures which are being given
in all the normal schools of the state at the local institution last night taking for his topic the sociological aspect of the tuberculosis problem. The lecture was well attended, there being many of the students of the school there as well
as citizens interested in the work.

The second lecture will be given here
soon by Prof. W. D. Frost of Madison Wis. These lectures are a part of the university extension course
for the schools of the state.

The lecture last night was interesting and had a special reference to this state and was illustrated with stereopticon slides. In speaking of the work being done here, Dr. Brown said: "I am very much pleased with the prospect in La Crosse with the fight against consumption. Your board of supervisors in starting to secure the $5000 hospital have taken a step in the right direction and if
the city follows the work by appointing an expert health commissioner, La Crosse will be the first city in the state outside of Milwaukee in the fight against the disease."

The speaker last night was introduced by Dr. Evans after a brief speech, the physician having been introduced previously by President
Cotton. This afternoon, Dr. Brown,
John Kindley, L. Linker, C. H.
Schweitzer and E. S. Heberd are investigating the conditions at the county poor farm.

AMERICAN WANTED FOR WIFE MURDER

and discovered that she was entitled to a title and estate. She and Crippen, the London police say, then left Philadelphia with the announcement of intention of going to Poland
to lay claim to her estate and title of baroness Makomaski. They never returned to America. Little is known of her efforts to re-establish her title in Poland. In recent years, they have lived in London,
always keeping an expensive establishment and seeming to be liberally supplied with money. Crip-
pen conducted an agency business
in New Oxford street. He was seen little by his neighbors at Hilldrop Crescent though Mrs. Crippen was well known in the neighborhood.

Last February when Mrs. Crippen's absence was noted, Dr. Crippen told inquirers that she had gone
to Europe for her health. In March,
a theatrical paper carried an announcement of the death of Belle Elmore. The neighbors became suspicious and notified the police who learned that no such death had occurred in the place mentioned in the advertisement.

Scotland Yard officials questioned Dr. Crippen who was then living with a second Mrs. Crippen.
The dentist continued to live in the Hilldrop Crescent house, replying to all questions and maintaining an unusually calm demeanor. Saturday
he disappeared. Then the police began searching the house, almost tearing it to pieces. Gardens were dug up and walls sounded. Last night the body was found buried
under a cement floor in the basement. It was so badly decomposed
that identification has been impossible.

WYATT WINS SCORE CUP

Boy of Seventeen Finishes
First in Qualifying Round with a Score
of 81

The La Crosse Country club
qualified six men in the first round of the state championship play at the Country Club links yesterday afternoon, F. P. Hixon, R. D. Gordon, A. M. Thompson, George W.
Burton, Joseph M. Hixon and P. M.
Gelatt getting into the running for today's playing.

The boy golfers were in evidence
yesterday three of them qualifying
and a fourth who was not expected to show made good. Harold Wyatt, Fond du Lac, aged seventeen
years, was the low score medalist
with a card of 81 three under bogey, winning the cup for low score,
Ned Allis, Milwaukee and Gordon
Yule, both youngsters qualified,
the latter losing several strokes in
the rough on a single hole and finishing in 89, the highest score in the qualifying round. F. P. Hixon of this city finished second in the qualifying match with 82. Yule was forced to play a tie off in the round, two of the players having finished in 89. The 35 players who failed to get into the qualifying round yesterday will start play today for the consolation cup. Today is practically uneventful. The men have but one event to play,
the first match play round, and as this takes out 24 pairs, it was thought best to devote the entire day to this and to leave the men
comparatively fresh for tomorrow
and Saturday which are both 36
hole days. Following are the results of yesterday's play:

One other youngster surprised
the natives, Malcolm Kehlor of Kenosha doing 82, and he was the victim of a rimmed put on the eighteenth green, having apparently cupped his putty when the pesti-
ferous pellet climbed out of the cup
and hung on the lip of the can for an 82.

Today will be devoted to the first round of match play only, and Ned Allis meets the veteran J. M. Hix-
on, while Harold Wyatt meets George W. Burton.

Following are the pairs for the first day of match play for the championship cup: Harold Wyatt
vs. G. W. Burton; R. D. Gordon vs.
Hamilton Vose; F. P. Hixon vs. F.
W. Jacobs; C. C. Allen vs. P. M.
Gelatt; T. P. Allis vs. J. M. Hixon;

UNIFORM DOCKAGE ALONG THE RIVER

This will Be Question to Be Considered at the Next River Convention

Dr. W. A. Anderson, J. L. Utermoehl, C. W. MacWillie, John P.
Salzer, Capt. W. A. Thompson and Aldermen J. C. Houska, Schneberg-
er and B. C. Smith, who were delegates to the convention of the Upper Mississippi River Improvement association, returned home last night
from St. Paul. All expressed themselves as much pleased with the meeting and the interest that is shown in the improvement of the Father of Waters.

Mr. McWillie was the father of a resolution providing that a committee of five be appointed by the president with power to employ an expert engineer and to investigate
the necessary equipment for modern docks. Committee is to consult with the United States engineering department and to determine upon suitable plans for such docks and equipment
tending to uniform dockage in all municipalities on the upper Mississippi valley. These plans and specifications are to be at disposal of the municipalities with the request that they carry out the plans tending to equipment.

The resolution was referred to the executive council of which Dr. W. A.
Anderson is a member. It was placed on file and will be taken up at the next meeting of the association.

FIREMAN JULIUS FAY IS DROWNED

Stricken with Paralysis He Goes Down After Heroic Effort by Friend to Save Him

While bathing in the Mississippi river nearly opposite the head of Pet-
tibone island yesterday afternoon,
Julius Fay, better known as "Butch" Fay, a city fireman at the central station, was drowned and Charles Niebuhr was barely saved by a nearby launch. The latter clutched the hair of the drowning man and battled
in the swift current until he was nearly exhausted, and was obliged to let go to save his own life.

Decided to Have Swim

Yesterday afternoon Fay and Niebuhr and some friends went across the river to spend a few hours in the park. They rowed to the head of the island and then decided to go
across the river to the Wisconsin
shore and swim off a sandbar
that had formed there. Both are good swimmers but it is thought that Fay was seized with cramps or suffered a stroke of paralysis, because when Niebuhr first noticed Fay, he was in distress, but said nothing.
Niebuhr immediately swam to his assistance and grabbed hold of the drowning man's hair, at the same time shouting for help. C. N. Dunham, who was sitting on the porch
at the Y. M. C. A. camp on the Minnesota shore, responded to the call
and rowed to the scene in a skiff,
taking a clothes line with him.
When he arrived, however, it was too late, Fay having disappeared and Niebuhr, nearly exhausted, rescued.

Drag for the Body

Niebuhr then hurried to the city
and notified the firemen and the police and a party of men went to the scene and began to drag for the body. In view of the fact that the body was devoid of clothing, grappling hooks were ineffective. The river was being dragged all night.

of the city fire department, having been in the service for 12 years. He was 32 years of age and lived with his mother at 718 Rose street. During his service in the department he met with several serious accidents

but in each case recovered and was able to resume his duties. Two years ago, while driving the chief's horse
on the way to a fire, the buggy collided with a pile of rock in front of the city hall and he was thrown out, sustaining a severe injury to the head,
causing him to be laid up in the hospital for some time. About a year ago he suffered a slight stroke of paralysis, thought to have resulted from the accident a year before. It is believed that while he was swimming
yesterday he suffered another stroke
of paralysis, rendering him perfectly helpless in the water.

tions of the city are today flying at

PACKERS' AGENT IS CHARGED WITH THEFT

NEW YORK, July 14.—Frank H.
Turner, manager of the San Francisco branch of the Cudahy Packing company, was arraigned in court to-

It was alleged that he stole $4,500

HOT-WEATHER DYSPEPSIA

It is a well known fact that it is harder to digest cold food than warm food and as most of the food eaten in hot weather is iced, a great amount of digestive suffering results. It is well to be careful about what you eat in hot weather, and not to over-eat, but it is more important
still if you are suffering from indigestion to have it cured promptly. It is hard enough to best to bear up under terrible heat, but when with decaying matter, the whole system becomes congested. You become subject to headaches, colds, fever, constipation and a dozen and one ailments that make life a burden. Take a few doses of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and you will find immediate relief and in a short time a permanent cure. It will cleanse the stomach and bowels and give your system a new start. Appetite, good spirit, sound sleep and energy will soon return and your dyspepsia will have vanished. The cost is only 50 cents or $1.00 a bottle, and there is sufficient for you and your family. A TRIAL BOTTLE FREE OF CHARGE can be

JOHNSON RUNS WHEN SAM APPEARS

NEW YORK, July 14.—"I don't believe you could pay Jack Johnson to fight Sam Langford," today declared William Gibson, of the Fairmount Athletic club, a well known fight club of New York. "When Johnson was flat broke a year ago, I offered him $5,000 for a six round bout before my fight club. He got only $4,700 for beating Tommy Burns in 14 rounds, so I was sure that my offer would be snapped up especially since I knew Johnson did not have a cent. He turned the offer down cold. "I was later present in a sporting resort when Langford came in and found Johnson there. There was bad blood between the men and Langford made a dash for the champion. John hit the swinging doors and took it on the run. Down the street he went like a scared deer. Being the better runner, he escaped. "I think Langford can lick Johnson to a frazzle and if Joe Woodman, his manager, needs any financial aid, I am willing to make up the $20,000 side bet Johnson demands. If they ever meet in mortgage by house to get a bet on my man, Jack might worry Langford with his left but he never saw the day he could hit as hard as the Boston negro. But I think you will see Johnson steer clear of a fight with Langford."

This is awful! Not only did they try to stop the fight, but now they are going to banish the moving pictures.

DULUTH, Minn., July 14.—Two singles and a double in the eleventh inning of yesterday's contest with La Crosse gave the Sox a 2 to 1 victory and two games of the series. Cummings had the better of Barngrover in what developed into a pitchers' battle, the latter weakening in the eleventh. Score: R H E Duluth— AB H PO A E G. PIRATES LOSE TWO. SUPERIOR, Wis., July 14.—The Killianites were given a jolting setback in their race for first place yesterday, when Duke Arthur O'Dea's Red Sox drubbed them up one side and down the other for a humiliating defeat in both ends of a double bill. Over eighteen innings they traveled, playing like Trojans against an impenetrable defense, without forcing a single man across the counting pan. They went down hard for a double shut-out.

SALARY LIMIT RAISED TO $1,400

Minny League Directors Increase Salaries; 13 Men Playing Now Includes Team Manager

The Minnesota-Wisconsin League salary limit was raised from $1,300 to $1,400 at Tuesday's meeting of the directors, held at Duluth. While President John A. Elliott was in Duluth primarily to straighten out the affairs of the local baseball club, from which J. C. McGreevy and A. W. Kuehn had withdrawn, he considered it an opportune time to call a meeting of the directors and consider several matters of general interest to the league. J. J. Ferrin represented the Red Wing club; Carl Bond, manager of the Wausau team, was on hand with a vote for the Lumberjack club; William Sommers was here from Superior, E. H. Derr from La Crosse, H. D. Davis from Eau Claire and John Borth was expected from Winona. The $1,400 limit will not include the salary of the manager, but the player limit of 13 men will include the man who has charge of the team. President Elliott was asked to see that all of the clubs go down to the limit at once, as the allegation was made that several teams have 15 or 16 men on the grounds the Medics. Both teams worked new pitchers. The score: R H E Rochester . . . 1 5 5 Eau Claire . . . 7 9 2 Batteries: Cave and Fischer; Bothey and Benrud.

Wausau 3, Red Wing 2. WAUSAU, Wis., July 14.—The Lumberjacks took another from the door mats yesterday afternoon, 3 to 2. The game was well played and the errors were not disastrous ones. Hits on both sides were scattered. The score: R H E Wausau . . . 3 8 3 Red Wing . . . 2 6 2 Batteries: Schieffer and Johnson; Weidell and Thomas.

at all of their games.

There were no new developments yesterday in the situation, the probability merely growing that the Duluth club would be transferred to the hands of Dr. J. A. McCuen, Joseph Maitland and J. J. Desmond. All three of the men look favorably upon the project, but are simply delaying a positive decision until they have investigated the matter thoroughly. If they take hold of the club, they wish to make it a pronounced and unqualified success, and they do not care to interest themselves in the sport unless they are reasonably certain that they will realize their desires.

The representatives from the other cities declare that they have no intention of deserting the league at this stage of the game. J. J. Ferrin of Red Wing explained the action recently at Red Wing by saying that the backers of the club had become rather apathetic, and that there was no way to wake them except by the threat of quitting the league, which would have been carried out had not every one rallied to the support of the team.

President Elliott believes the league to be in as good shape as it ever has been, and does not view the two attempts to get out of the organization with any great degree of alarm.

SHEBOYGAN WILL GET 1911 TOURNEY

Indications Are that That City will Have State Golf Event Next Year; Decide on Friday

Indications at the present time among the many visiting golfers in the city are that Sheboygan will get the state golf tournament for 1911. Sheboygan golfers are anxious to have the event come to their city to develop the lagging enthusiasm among the members there. No opposition has been voiced as yet and it is thought that the state association may send the tourney to that city. The directors will hold the business meeting tomorrow evening at which time the convention city will be decided on.

The progress made by the golfers of the state is being shown in the present tournament. Here are a few comparisons. In 1905 the low score was 85; in 1910, it is 81. The course record was broken in 1910 with a card of 79, while the professional record has been shattered by Robert Simpson with 72. This year the highest man to qualify was forced to play off an 89 score tie. These comparisons briefly show the development among the state golfers. There are at the present time many more playing in the tournament than the first year and as the game progresses the state players will take their stand among the country's best.

One of the interesting features of the tournament is the appearance of the Wyatt family of Fond du Lac. They are a close second to the famous Yule family of Kenosha, which consists of grandfather, father and grandson. Unlike this family the Wyatts consist of father and three sons. Harold and his father finished in the first flight yesterday while Ralph and George are making their first appearance in fast company.

The details for the professional event Saturday is about complete and present indications are that there will be four crack "pros" here, including a local man, Alex Robertson of Milwaukee has sent word that he will come and Jimmie Simpson of Blue Mound and Robert Simpson, the "Driving Demon," Fond du Lac, will be present to start Saturday. Robert Simpson, the professional record holder, is now in the city.

LAYETTES THAT ARE SCIENTIFIC AND COST LITTLE

Togs for Tiny Tots—Insure Perfect Health by Maintaining Even Temperature for Entire Body

IF mothers could only realize the vital importance of not dressing and handling young babies, and would think about the shameful harm they inflict upon these dear, helpless little creatures by the foolish vanity of toggling them out in frills and embroidery, they would sacrifice this petulant pride at least until the infant is sufficiently strong to live in spite of its mother's foolish cruelties.

Young infants should wear absolutely no clothes. Think of the little delicate arms pulled in and out of at least three pairs of sleeves from three to four times each day and being rolled first on its tender little stomach and over again on its back, then tugging at the chubby little legs to further encase them in stockings, then pins to hold the socks in place, and after all this tug-of-war what has been accomplished? The baby is quite air-tight, not a breath of air can penetrate to the delicate skin, and at least three different degrees of temperature are established for the sensitive organism, with the result that in changing, and the necessary exposure of bathing, the baby easily contracts croup or a cold and in comes the doctor with all sorts of oxygen and syrups to save its wee life.

Babies Cheaper than Pets.

The secret is simple and costs nothing, reducing the expense of a baby to the mere cost of keeping a pet dog, which even the poorest of people indulge in. In short, aside from feeding the stork, babies are no longer expensive and burdensome luxuries. They have become cunning, crowing little necessities that no family can afford to be without. They require no more care than a kitten, if one adheres strictly to common-sense principles. How much more delight and what complete satisfaction one feels at the achievement!

Give the Baby Air.

Air, fresh, cold, pure air is the beginning and end of this system, air night and day, from the very hour the baby arrives; not a few inches waited into over-heated rooms around and behind the would-be sheltering panels of a screen, over the edge of a blanket wall and down underneath the hood of a bassinet to the outside of a coverlet carefully placed over the poor child's head. Convention decrees that if by any magic phenomenon a single overly bold little breeze, God's best gift to his children, should contrive to climb over and under, up and around all these so-called protecting obstacles, the dear baby shall not be allowed to play with it or even form its acquaintance. No! Whatever else may befall the wee darling, it must not have air, until it is heated and polluted into literal poison for the little system to imbibe. That is the old-fashioned way of caring for a baby.

How to Produce Sleep.

The modern formula for a strong, healthy baby consists of three rules, founded upon one principle of "plenty of air." All the air there is! Let it breathe it through the pores of the entire body, as well as through the nostrils, keeping the entire body one even temperature, then feed the baby all it will take and lay it in the open window to sleep. Your baby will then sleep most of the day and all the night until eight or ten in the morning. When it is nine months old it will insist upon kicking around for three or four hours a day and gradually shorten its day naps

but retain its all-night sleep. Thus you will be insured against a nervous, irritable child.

Immediately the question arises, "How is one to attain an even temperature to start with, and especially if the baby wears no clothes?"

A very simple contrivance has been tried and proved most practical and more than satisfactory in every way, having been adopted in several babies' hospitals and public nurseries of New York City.

No Clothes for New Born Infants.

All clothes are dispensed with except a knitted band—dress, white slip, flannel petticoat, narrow coat shirt and stockings—only the band and diapers being retained, even the latter being much abbreviated and less bulky than the ordinary square of many thicknesses that pull and bind.

Being thus stripped the baby is then put in a simple square flannel bag, fitted in the shoulders and opening at the hem by means of snap fasteners, thus making one even covering that does not bind nor pull; the bag is made sufficiently long and wide to enable the little legs and arms to wave about at ease, and having the snap fasteners at the lower edge makes changing of the diaper easy of accomplishment.

The extra width is gathered into a short shoulder seam like the top of a sleeve, and as the child grows older, developing a tendency to grab its toys, the side seam is ripped open for two or three inches and faced so the arms may pass through up to the elbow.

The neck is finished quite plainly, with a three-inch slit to allow the head to pass through. No collar is added, as it is apt to cause perspiration about the neck, a little shirr string run through a casing being the only finish.

How to Construct a Bag.

These bags are not only exceedingly practical from a hygienic point of view, but are most economical in cost from start to finish, ten yards of material being ample; and having only two seams is commonly overlooked is the baby's bed coverings. There should be but one. A hair mattress is best, because it is non-heating, easily renovated, and soft and flat to lie upon. This should be slipped into a white case made to fit it and similar to a pillow slip, so that it can be readily removed. The only other covering should be a down puff made twice the width of the bed and a small sheet the same size pinned to the inside and folding well over the upper edge. One half is then laid on the mattress, the baby laid on it and the upper half folded over and tied to the lower half by means of two sets of ribbons on each of the three edges. The baby is now warm and snug as a little rabbit and has absolutely no weight to support from heavy blankets and dresses. Being tied in, no amount of activity can possibly work the covers loose.

The sheet being folded down over the upper edge, as on a bed, prevents quite warm enough, and having the open mesh the air can get to the scalp, so the child does not take cold when its bonnet is removed, as is so often the case when the warm thick-padded affairs lined and interlined, are used.

When indoors the room should be almost cold and the little bed should be in an open window. Great care, however, should be taken not to have a draft created by a fire-place or other opening that will cause a current of air. It is a scientific fact that no amount of cold air will cause colds as long as there is no draft.

Before the baby's bath, it should be stripped for a few minutes and allowed to kick in warm sunlight, and, as it grows older, to creep about for fifteen or twenty minutes, retaining its band. Do not put shoes and stockings on a baby until it is old enough to run about out of doors, and then only sandals; so many mothers make a child sensitive to heat and cold by over-dressing the ankles and chest. The great point is to keep the little abdomen quite warm, and a vigorous child will retain an even temperature through the rest of the body.

The actual number of first clothes required is exceedingly small, as no button clothing is needed. A healthy baby sleeps all day, so only the sleeping bags,

BABY IN A BAG; NO CLOTHES

Cruelty of Young Mothers—Infants Quite Naked

The little knitted bands are much better than the pinned flannel band, as they save worrying the baby in putting on, and are also very injurious to the baby. The little knitted ones are manufactured of soft wool and have narrow bands over the shoulder and a little tab backed with heavy material, on which to fasten the diaper. They come well up over the chest, so no shirt is required for their protection, as with the old-fashioned band. They are woven all in one piece, so there are no seams to irritate the delicate little flesh. These can be obtained at any of the large department stores and many of the smaller ones.

A great saving of labor in caring for the diapers is to have many thin squares of old soft sheeting or flannel, cut in squares of about twelve inches, unhemmed of course, and laid inside the diaper, so when soiled they can be easily and quickly removed and burned, thus being a much more sanitary way and a thousand times easier to possess any, is much superior to the old-fashioned diaper, being much softer to the skin.

The shape of the diaper is a very important consideration. A huge mass of many thicknesses is quite a thing of the past. It overheats the body and has a tendency to bow the legs. A simpler and much more comfortable diaper can be easily constructed at home or purchased at almost any department store, requiring much less cloth and saving a great deal of time in laundering. Take a piece of cloth from twelve to fourteen inches square and cut off the corners, shaping them as in the drawing, and sewing to the center a small triangular piece of heavy turkish muslin or stitched padding. Instead of clumsy safety pins, buttons and buttons, holes may be used or strings attached to fasten them with a proper ligament snugness.

This table includes everything necessary for a new-born infant until it is six months old, when the bags may be altered into creeping rompers or dresses if one prefers.

The prices quoted allow for the best quality of materials suitable for the purpose. The bags could be made more dainty by the addition of embroidery or feather stitching. The puff could be covered in china silk rather than satin or sateen, but otherwise there is no better material available.

While a dainty layette is a great temptation to young mothers, it is injurious to the child. It is only a few months before it can wear most beautiful little ruffy dresses without being increased in the process of dressing. These bags are highly endorsed by the most prominent physicians and baby specialists of the country as being the most hygienic, scientific and practical garment for the new-born infant and young children.

HOW TO CELEBRATE YOUR WOODEN AND TIN WEDDING

Roses on a Dustpan—Chopping Bowls and Pails in Place of China are Suitable Gifts

THE wooden wedding, on the fifth year of marriage, seems to be the first anniversary of importance, although the earlier anniversaries are sometimes marked by celebrations—namely, the first, paper; second, cotton; third, linen.

An evening reception for general friends is a good way to entertain. Invitations may be engraved or written as follows:

1905 1910
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoyt
request the pleasure of your company
on Tuesday evening, April fifth
at eight o'clock
Wooden Wedding

The host and hostess receive together, and as many of the original number of the bridesmaids as can be got together should receive with them. The hostess may wear her wedding gown, remodeled in a new fashion. Of course, she does not wear a veil or large blossoms. The host wears evening dress, as at any evening affair.

It is contrary to all rules of propriety to have a repetition of the marriage ceremony.

The house decorations should be flowers, ferns, branches and verdure from the woods. Flowers and greenery are in wooden bowls; tall growing plants are in wooden pails or tubs.

The refreshments are served from a large table in the dining-room. A chopping-bowl, filled with flowers, forms a centerpiece. Bread-boards, chopping-boards, wooden trays, bowls, dishes and plates are substituted for china. The refreshments include a bride's cake, which is cut by the bride. Chicken salad, dainty sandwiches, ice cream, cake and a mild punch are easily served. The men bring plates of refreshments to the ladies, who stand up or may be seated about the room.

Souvenirs may be wooden spoons tied with ribbons and having the dates printed in gilt on the ribbons.

when the front and back are joined at the sides, they require very little time or talent for construction. Added to this, the fact that they need no ironing or even starching, no under petticoats, or outside jackets, the great expenditure of money and time upon the layette is entirely obviated, and the child is healthy and happy in its perfect freedom of movement, unencumbered as it is with layers of clothes and wrappings, also the pores having a chance to breathe.

The neck is finished quite plainly, with a three-inch slit to allow the head to pass through. No collar is added, as it is apt to cause perspiration about the neck, a little shirr string run through a casing being the only finish.

Only One Covering.
Another excellent idea and one that the child from perspiring about the neck.

A little knitted cap of wool, made with a large open mesh and unlined, is then put on the head, and of a very cold winter day a little square of the same material is stretched above the baby's face. After it is arranged in its basket or hammock, the infant is now ready to sleep out in the coldest winter weather, in all sorts of snow, wind or sunshine, but never if there is the least dampness in the air.

The little bonnet should have no trimming, as that destroys the even heat of the head. Being made of wool it is an amusing feature may be a sawdust pile in a large wooden bowl or tub, the pile containing small wooden trifles to be distributed among the guests.

Guests send gifts of all sorts—kitchen articles or household furniture; bundles of kindling wood tied with ribbon, clothes-pins, rolling-pins, stepladders, picture frames, tables or chairs.

The tenth anniversary is the tin wedding. Tinware and pink flowers are used for the decorations. The table in the dining-room may have, as a centerpiece, a large tin pail filled with pink flowers and tied around with a broad pink ribbon. Tin plates, dishes, forks, spoons and cups are used. Little fluted cake tins, filled with wedding cake wrapped in tinfoil and tied up with pink ribbons, may be given for souvenirs.

Gifts for a tin wedding may be flowers in tin dippers or pails; growing plants in deep pans; roses tied to apple-corer, or a dustpan, or tin spoons; wire baskets lined with silk and filled with bonbons.

If the hostess still has her wedding gown, or a portion of it, this may be made over and utilized with new material and worn for the occasion, or a dress of any preferred fashion may be chosen, the color harmonizing with the prevailing pink of the floral decorations.

To Clean the Refrigerator
When white spots appear on the refrigerator take all food out and rub the zinc lining with kerosene. Leave the top and door open for several hours, then wash with soap and ammonia in warm water, dry thoroughly and the refrigerator will be sweet and spotless.

Two Creole Rice Dishes
Creole Beans—Boil one pint of red kidney beans; add celery or parsley, minced fine with two small onions. Salt to taste and sprinkle freely with both black and red pepper. Cook till well done, then add two cups of rice and enough water to cover. Boil twenty minutes, keeping the pot lid slightly off to allow the escape of steam. Season with butter or ham drippings and serve hot.

Spanish Rice—Mince a slice of bacon or fat ham and brown in a frying pan with a sliced onion, being careful not to scorch the onion. Remove the onion and add a cupful of tomato, either canned or fresh. Pepper freely with red pepper. Into this sauce fold a cupful of cold boiled rice. Heat piping hot and serve at once. It is as good reheated as when first served.

Burnt Sugar Cake and Cookies
First make the burnt sugar or caramel. Stir one cupful of sugar in an iron frying-pan over a hot fire until black and smoking. With cover partly open to prevent burning the hands, pour in from side one cupful of water. Bottle for future use, for flavoring fruit-cake, ginger-bread, cookies, etc.

For the Cake—One and a half cupfuls of sugar, one-half a cupful of butter, three well-beaten eggs, one cupful water, one teaspoonful of vanilla, two tablespoonfuls of burnt sugar flavoring and two cupfuls of flour sifted with two level teaspoonfuls of baking-powder. Bake in three layers, and when cool put together with the following icing: One cupful of confectioner's sugar, one tablespoonful of the burnt sugar and enough milk or water—about a tablespoonful—to make the right consistency. Spread on the cake and between the layers.

For the Cookies—Cream two cupfuls of sugar with one cupful of butter and lard—mixed—gradually adding two well-beaten eggs, two tablespoonfuls of the caramel flavoring, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-quarter teaspoonful each of allspice and cloves and salt, two cupfuls of raisins and nuts, and a cupful of sour milk in which a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved. Mix with enough diapers, bands, puff and bonnet are absolutely necessary until the infant is six months old. Even then it is far better to keep on the bags, more or less elaborated with tucks and frills, if the mother feels she must have more ornamental clothing for the precious treasure.

Until a baby begins to creep and climb about it is not strong enough to be tumbled in and out of regular clothes. The bags allow it perfect freedom for kicking and trying its small strength and greatly simplify the process of caring for a new baby, as it requires but one minute to slip over the head and tie about the neck.

der of the sugar and the vanilla extract. Boil gently for three-quarters of an hour, then place in the bottom of a pudding dish, spreading it evenly.

Apple With Rice
To make a sufficient quantity for eight persons allow eight tart apples, three-quarters of a pound of sugar, the peel of half a lemon, half a pound of rice, three cupfuls of milk, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, and currant jelly or other fruit jam as required. Pare and core the apples, and put them in a saucepan with four ounces of the sugar, the lemon peel and sufficient water to cover. Stew slowly until the apples are tender. Remove them from the fire and let stand until needed. Strain the juice and return it to the fire until it is reduced to two-thirds of the original quantity. Boil the rice, which has been previously washed in a quart of cold water for ten minutes. Then throw into cold water for a moment, drain and place in a saucepan with the milk, the remainder of the sugar and the vanilla extract. Boil gently for three-quarters of an hour, then place in the bottom of a pudding dish, spreading it evenly.

Fill the centers with the jam or jelly. Pour the reduced juice over them and decorate the top with blanched almonds and citron peel cut into strips. Place on ice and serve cold.

To Wash Heavy Bed Clothing
To wash heavy bed clothes and a warm wash with good soap will let the comfortables or blankets clean in it for a while. Then take a clean hoe for a pounder. Pound and pound again in another tub. Rinse thoroughly and hang on a line without wringing. If a handy spray plenty of water over them when on the line. The clothes washed in this way.

MAY SMASH LINDSEY COURT

DENVER, Colo., July 14.—Whether Judge Ben B. Lindsey's juvenile court is legal and whether the jurist will be permitted to hold any court at all depends, it is said, on the coming decision of the Colorado supreme court in quo warranto proceedings for the consolidation of the city and county governments of Denver. The supreme court has taken original jurisdiction in the case and has granted permission for the filing of the suit in quo warranto for the ousting of the county commissioners.

The juvenile court exists under the state law. Should the supreme court decide that it is a city or county office, the question is asked, "What would become of Judge Lindsey's job?" An amendment to the Colorado constitution provides that all offices in Denver except the district and county courts and the district attorney shall be provided for in the Denver city charter.

WILL FIGHT TO HOLD CHARLTON

NEW YORK, July 14.—Captain Henry Harrison Scott, brother of Mrs. Porter Charlton, who was murdered in Italy, declares that he intends fighting to compel Charlton to stand trial. In a formal statement he said:

"My attention has been called to a dispatch from Washington saying Charlton will not be extradited. I cannot believe it possible that a man who is a confessed murderer of the most brutal type can elude the aid, sympathy or friendship of a government official. Yet I cannot help but feel that I am not receiving the proper treatment that should be accorded an American citizen."

OLDFIELD AT THE WIS. STATE FAIR

MADISON, Wis., July 14.—The State Board of Agriculture is closing a contract with Barney Oldfield, the famous automobile speed king to exhibit his automobile at the state fair and to take part in the five mile race against an aeroplane. Steps were taken by the board to meet the injunction of T. J. Neacy, relative to the location of the speed barns at the state fair park. The contracts will be changed to conform with the statute and after hearing on the injunction, work will be resumed and it is freely predicted the barns will go up on the original site.

THIS ORPHAN GOT HIS MONEY'S WORTH

NEW YORK, July 13.—Myron

Parker, 14, was turned over to Walter M. Stone, of the Boston Children's Aid society, by the police today to be taken back to Boston after a week of New York, which left his head whirling with amazement. During that time he dined at the Broadway restaurants, viewed the delights of the roof gardens and of Coney Island, and realized every wild desire of his fondest day dreams. The week had cost him $150, which he had taken from the strong box of a Farmington, Maine, farmer, to whom he had been indentured by the Boston society.

"I couldn't stand it on the farm," pleaded Parker. "You see they beat me and made me do all the chores. I never had anything since I was born, so I took the money ten days ago. I am sorry I took it, but it was worth it. I never dreamed there was any such things as I saw there."

WISCONSIN NEWS

SUPERIOR AFTER NEXT CONVENTION

FOND DU LAC, Wis., July 14.—Superior is making a strong campaign to land the next convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. Thirty-seven cities are represented at the meeting here.

The principal feature of Wednesday's session was a paper by Fred G. Simmons of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company on "Permanent Paving of City Streets as Affected by the Presence of Street Railway Tracks."

Concluding he said: "We would like to say to the large number of municipal officers present that any street railway corporation of any acumen whatever, is just as desirous as you can possibly be to obtain the best results obtainable. If you will take this into consideration in your dealings with them we believe much trouble and many misunderstandings will be avoided."

T. P. Silverwood, Green Bay, read a paper on "The New Paving and Its Operation," and J. S. McCullough, Fond du Lac, read a paper on "Concrete Paving."

TO RUN HORBLICK WITH DAVIDSON

MADISON, Wis., July 14.—The friends of Gov. Davidson and other republicans of stalwart inclination are now working on a plan to bring the governor into the field as a candidate for renomination in association with the candidacy of Mayor A. J. Horlick of Racine for the nomination for lieutenant governor. It is said that this movement has been the result of a belief that Gov. Davidson is still the strongest man whom the conservative republicans can place in the field for governor, and that his candidacy would be particularly attractive if linked with that of a man like Horlick, whom they declare has shown himself to be possessed of unusual popularity. As yet his strength as a campaigner has been proved only by his successive re-elections as mayor of Racine.

TALKS AGAINST COUNTY OPTION

WESTBY, Wis., July 14.—A warning to progressive republicans that they would bring about the election of an anti-progressive if they allowed their attention to be diverted by the county option question was given by the Rev. Daniel Woodward, Omro, Wis., in a street address here last night. He contended that the election of a county option man was impossible this year because of the temperance vote being split between five factions, and urged every progressive to come to the support of Francis E. McGovern in his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination.

WORLD FAMOUS CRACKSMAN DEAD

WEST SWANSEY, N. H., July 14. Famed throughout the world of vegdom as "King of the Burglars," Charlie Adams, whose real name was Langdon W. Moore, is dead here after four years of peace with the law. His last words were: "This is the right kind of a finish; to go out among your friends."

Moore was born in East Washington N. H., in 1840. Adams' name many years ago was famed in criminal annals. He engineered many "breaks," the most famous being the robbery of the Concord National bank at Concord in 1865, in which affair he was associated with "English Harry," one of the most skillful English cracksmen that ever came across the Atlantic.

The two went in the bank while the cashier was at dinner and got the combination of the safe which the cashier had marked beside it in lead pencil. The next day, while the cashier was at dinner, Harry went in and took $306,000 from the vaults. Moore's next crime was the robbery of the bank at Rockland, Me., in 1870.

When Moore was arrested in Paulsboro, N. J., he gave the police $202,331 worth of booty.

Moore's last robbery was that of the Warren institution for savings in 1880. For this he was given a ten year sentence and on another charge he got six more. The combination kept him in prison until 1895.

Moore said that he had paid the different police departments of the country $1,000,000 for protection. In his later years he was greatly befriended by Denman Thompson, the actor.

INSURGENTS WANT TO SHARE OFFICES

GRAND FORKS, N. D., July 14.—Peace in the republican party in North Dakota must come through the offices of C. A. Johnson, the gubernatorial nominee. It is to him the progressive or insurgent republicans look for a settlement of factional differences at this time, and if he makes the right move he may depend upon the almost entire insurgent support in the general election next fall. This is the position that has been taken by leaders of the insurgent faction. Many of them are anxious for harmony, but they are not willing to have harmony if it is to be at the cost of their cause.

IOWA REFORMER PLANS CAMPAIGN

John B. Hammond of Des Moines, Iowa, is in the city in conference with B. S. Steadwell relative to the tour of prominent Social Evil reformers throughout the northwest and south that is being arranged by the American Purity Federation.

Mr. Hammond is the champion of the "Iowa Red-Light Injunction law" that has proved to be so effective in closing houses of vice in that state and he will accompany the touring party and introduce this latest innovation in law enforcement, together with the new Iowa law for removing unfaithful and incompetent public officials by a court proceeding without the uncertainty of a jury.

Law Openly Defied
Mr. Hammond said to The Tribune, "The White Slave Traffic in this country is responsible only to the segregated or the police protected districts of vice in our cities. It makes no difference how strong a prohibition law may be enacted against houses of prostitution, they never have been and never can be enforced so long as they must run the deadly gauntlet of the unfriendly jury. In Iowa we had a prohibition law against these houses with a penitentiary penalty for its violation for over a quarter of a century, but under the assurance of police protection and their confidence of escaping the penalties of law was not only ignored but openly defied. Houses of shame they were run openly in Iowa cities for years had to be supplied with inmates, and this became a very lucrative business. Enough could not be secured from 'white slave' traffic was established to meet the demand.

Girls Are Protected Now
"With the introduction of the new law, that puts the penalty on the property owner where it belongs, and relegating the jury system to the scrap heap of discarded court procedure, conditions have changed. Property owners do not lease their houses for this purpose, their usurious returns have been denied them and they must now depend on legitimate tenants. With the places of resort destroyed, there is now no demand for the white slave, and Iowa girls who were in constant danger from local procurers are now safe except from operators who are working for houses in neighboring states. I find the same conditions in Wisconsin and in the beautiful city of La Crosse, that cursed Iowa and her cities for years, and the same results will continue so long as this vile crime is at the mercy of corrupt police and thifty jurymen. It is our purpose now to enter other states and agitate the passage of this law."

Presented to the Legislature
Mr. Hammond is very enthusiastic over the success of the amendment of securing for the public that service for which officials are paid. Mr. Hammond declares that both of these laws will be presented to the next Wisconsin legislature and believes that they will be passed without any serious opposition. Mr. Hammond has met a number of Wisconsin reformers on this visit to our state and is highly pleased with the reception the Iowa plan is receiving. He leaves today for his home.

CORONER'S CLERK SUICIDES
CHICAGO, July 14.—Henry H. ski, a clerk in the coroner's office, committed suicide at his home here. Psychologists advance the opinion that he had become deranged from constant association with records of suicides. As far as is known Hinsk had no grave reason for despondency, and his taking of his own life by cutting his throat with a razor seemed to have been the result of a mental depression, resulting from his arduous employment.
